

Robot Design Competition - Hang Fai Cup

The Society of Operations Engineers

Theme

“Operations Engineers A New Era” [營運工程 新世代]

Background

For the sake of COVID-19 pandemic, Work from Home arrangement is common for office workers and suspension of classes also makes a ritual of students. As a result, the time for parents staying at home taking care of their children becomes much longer than ever before. Although it could be a challenge for some parents, it could also be an excellent opportunity to promote parent-child relationship.

Robot Design Competition provides a platform for parents and children by using computer software to design a virtual robot together. Through this design process, parents can build a positive relationship with their child by spending quality time and creating a caring environment of trust, respect and cooperation. While children could develop their creativity and enrich their understanding of the engineering world. These essential skills and values are able to set them on the path of future success.
